MUSTAPHA Effendi, the Miniſter whom the Porte ſent to Perſia along with the Shaugh's Miniſter, and who concluded the Peace between the two Empires, is returned hither, and has been preſented to the Sultan. The Tartar Khan has been ſometime ſince ſent for, and is expected to arrive here in two or three Days.

Turin, Jan. 21, N. S. We are aſſured from very good Hands, that great Part of the Spaniſh Infantry daily embark from Marſeilles; ſome for Spain, and ſome for the Kingdom of Naples: Though the Seaſon will not allow the Britiſh Ships to keep conſtantly on their Station in thoſe Parts, yet we have Advice, that ſome of the Tranſports are fallen into their Hands. By the laſt Letters from General Botta's Quarters we are inform'd, that a Body of Imperial Troops, under the Command of General Keil, had not only forced the Paſſage of the Bochetta, but drove the Enemy before them, with ſome Slaughter, almoſt to the Walls of Genoa itſelf, and particularly to the Suburb of Biſagno on the Eaſtern Side of the Town. General Keil, however, would not venture to maintain the Ground he had gained, at ſo great a Diſtance from the main Body of the Army, in a barren Country affording no Manner of Subſiſtance, but retired back towards the Bochetta, and nearer to Marquis Botta, from whence he may equally purſue his Operations, whenever he ſees a favourable Circumſtance for it. Upon ſome Advices received by Admiral Medley a few Days ſince, of a Deſign Marſhal Belleiſle had form'd to ſend a ſmall Body of French Troops by Sea into Genoa, under the Command of a choſen Sett of Officers, in order to animate the People in that City, and keep up the Spirit of the Revolt, he has ſtationed the Engliſh Men of War, employed on the Genoeſe Coaſt, in the beſt Manner for intercepting all ſuch Embarkations. The King of Sardinia is perfectly well in his Health, and has not ſuffered in the leaſt from his Journey hither. This Prince is daily at work with his Miniſters in order to recruit his Troops, and prepare Matters for a vigorous Campaign, as ſoon as the Return of Spring will allow us to take the Field.

Hague, Feb. 7, N. S. By Letters from Paris of the 3d Inſtant, we have Advice, that the Army under the Command of Marſhal Belleiſle had quitted their Camp at Puget on the 21ſt paſt, and encamped at Gonfaron, and that the Detachments, which the Marſhal had poſted along the Argens by Vidauban to the Bridge of les Arcs, had driven the Auſtrians before them with their Cannon Shot and Small Arms: That the French had taken Poſſeſſion of the Bridge, and purſued them to the Village of les Arcs, and that the ſame had been done at Canet and at Carces: That on the 22d the French had encamped at Luc, and on the 23d an advanced Party of their Troops had taken Poſt at Draguinau, which 6000 of the Auſtrians had abandon'd, and were purſued two Leagues with the Loſs of ſome Men killed, and 30 taken Priſoners: That on the 24th the Spaniſh Army had join'd the French, and they had both paſſed the Argens, and taken their Camp at Lorgues, where the Infant Don Philip, accompanied by the Duke of Modena, had likewiſe join'd them: That the Army under the Command of General Brown continued to intrench itſelf in its former Poſt, and ſeem'd diſpoſed to wait for the Enemy there. Other Advices from Paris of the ſame Date mention, that at the Attack of Caſtellane, which the Marquis de Maulevrier had retaken from the Auſtrians and Piedmonteſe the 21ſt of laſt Month, M. de Reans, an Auſtrian Lieutenant General, was wounded and taken Priſoner:

[Price Two-pence.]

Priſoner: That it was a very hot Action, and began at Seven o'Clock in the Morning, and laſted till Ten: That the French had carried that Poſt Sword in Hand; That the Loſs was very conſiderable on both Sides, and that M. Taubin, who had the Command of 3500 Swiſs in the Service of Spain, had diſtinguiſhed himſelf greatly in that Affair.

St. James's, February 1.

This Morning, about Four o'Clock, his Royal Highneſs the Duke of Cumberland ſet out for Harwich, to embark there for Holland.

Whitehall, January 16, 1746-7.

HOLLES NEWCASTLE.

And as a farther Encouragement, I do hereby promiſe a Reward of Thirty Pounds to any Perſon making ſuch Diſcovery as aforeſaid, to be paid upon Conviction of the Offender or Offenders.
